BRETT KISKER

Executive Director
Northland CAPS

Brett is the Executive Director of the Northland CAPS organization, a program which teaches high school juniors and seniors from 10 school districts in Clay and Platte Counties the professional skills that lead to success in the workforce. Prior to joining Northland CAPS in 2019, Brett spent 14 years teaching and coaching, primarily high school engineering, physics, and math courses. Brett was recognized as a Missouri STEM Innovator Educator in 2014 by the Missouri Chamber of Commerce. He was also recognized as the national Project Lead the Way engineering teacher of the year in 2018 and Liberty Public Schools (MO) teacher of the year in 2016. In his downtime, Brett spends hours each week watching his children at sporting events, and he serves as a deacon at First Baptist Church in Platte City.
