

CLARICE ROGERS

Sr. Human Resources Manager
Hubbell Power Systems

Clarice Rogers, SPHR, is currently the Sr. Human Resources Manager for Hubbell Power Systems with responsibility for Labor Relations and all areas of Human Resource objectives and support for their largest campus located in Centralia. She holds a Bachelor's degree in Business Administration and a Master's in Human Resource Management.

She began her career over 20 years ago and has held various HR roles in both the public and private sectors. Her previous experience includes domestic and international assignments with large manufacturing and distribution organizations including Director of North and South American HR Operations for OneSubsea in Houston, TX, Vice President of HR, the Americas, for Welspun Tubular and Vice President of HR for Performance Foodservice, both located in Little Rock, AR.

Clarice grew up in central Missouri and was excited to be offered her new role with Hubbell, and return to her roots, after over 20 years away. After so many years spent in large cities, she and her family have settled on a small farm in Monroe County. She enjoys the quiet country life, spending time outdoors, with their animals and working with the conservation department to convert part of their acreage into a pollinator meadow using native mid-Missouri flowers and grasses.
